

But still the horses were too blind with hate to see what was happening.

In fact, some groups of horses began to blame changes in the land on the other groups.

