

Soon Harold was a hero. Mothers and fathers brought their little turtle children to Harold so that he could teach them to sing too. Before long Harold had taught all of the baby turtles from the village to chirp, and trill, and sing, sing, sing!