RONALD PAUL SPEAKES' PALE SAINT JUDAS

"While I was in this camp – it did not even have a name, although the men called it many things – we often talked with our captors. The Americans gave me news of the world, told me about their homes back in the States. and their plans for the future. They were idealistic. Their country was the Promised Land. Baseball was the sport of gods. As naive as children. Yet, I LIKED THEM. HOWEVER, IT WAS THAT NIGHT IN THE CAMP ON THE RHINE THAT CERTAIN IDEAS BECAME FOREVER UNITED IN MY MIND -- BARBED WIRE, THE ODIOUS STENCH OF HUMAN WASTE ... AND CULTURE."
