

STASIK: "Is true, Vladimir, dat everywhere you go in America, they watching you? We see on TV."

VLADIMIR: "Oh yes, cameras everywhere. You go to bank. They watch you. You go to store, they watch you. You buy gas for car, they see you. You dump old paint in river, they watch you, and put you in jail."

BORIS: "Who's watching you?"

VLADIMIR: "The 'E' 'P' 'P' 'A.'"

YURI: "Oh yeah. We heard dat. They watch you. You go to da outhouse and who is watching you?"

STASIK: "The 'E' 'P' 'P' 'A.'"

BABUSHKA: "So we got KGB, FSB. And America got 'E' 'P' 'P' 'A'. Everyting same wherever you go. No different."

BORIS: "I don't like dat 'E' 'P' 'P' 'A'! They say on TV we got dirty coal. America no want to buy our coal! Our coal is dirty? Let me tell you someting. Nuting like the smell of Russian coal in da morning. The smell of good Russian coal make you feel good and warm all inside every day in Winter. Russian coal is the best coal in the world! The best! Right Grandpa? You work in coal mine."

Grandpa slowly opens his mouth, takes a deep breath and heaves up a deep, resounding, gurgling persistent cough.

GRANDPA: "Eehh! Ahhh! Ehhhghheghhhheeee!"

BUBUSHKA: ". . . See? . . . He say yes."