

The children and Mom-Mom got off of Red Carpet. He flew away with a “whoosh” and shouted “Have fun!”

“Welcome to Crystal City,” a gentle voice behind them said.

Carmella, Sam and Max all turned around at once. There stood the most beautiful lady they had ever seen. She was wearing a long white dress and she looked like she was glowing and was completely surrounded by white light.

“Welcome to Crystal City,” she said again as she gave each of them a big hug. “It is so good to see you!”

The children could feel her love for them come into their hearts. Mom-Mom and the beautiful lady in the long white dress seemed to know each other. They were smiling, whispering, and hugging each other tightly.

“You are going to love visiting Crystal City! Follow me for your first adventure!” said the beautiful lady in the long white dress. Carmella took Scruffy out of her pajama top and held him in her arms. She, Sam, Max, and Mom-Mom followed the beautiful lady in the long white dress. They went down the hall and around the corner and passed many doors. When they came to a door with a cupcake and a piece of broccoli painted on it, they stopped.
