

Callie regarded Ronette cautiously. "What'd ya do? Summer?"

"No! What did you do?" Ronnie batted her eyelashes and grinned.

Callie broke into a daft giggle. No one had spoken to her in Biology or Geometry. So this was it. Her chance to make teenage history. She leaned toward them just a little, and it was like magnetism the way their heads leaned in, too. "Do you know?"

"Yes!" The two girls replied together. Then the questions came fast and furious. Boy or Girl? What's his name? What was it like?

Callie's heart fluttered. They seemed to actually believe she had had a baby. Unbelievable!
"Unbelievable!"