

Chapter 11
The Fall of H'Aleth
(Excerpt)

H'Aleth's defenders and Biogenics's forces were fully engaged at the wall when what appeared to be a massive machine of war in the distance suddenly took flight and swept down upon them. Cassius had unleashed a Great Gray dragon, with orders to destroy all combatants inside and outside the wall. Both defenders and attackers were stunned. They had no defense against a dragon. None of their people had the genetic ability to transform into a dragon and challenge the one bearing down upon them.
