

In the curlicue forest, the curlicues' feathery spirals faced the orange side of the sky. Tumblers lived in the forest, among the curlicues. The tumblers jumped and frolicked and rolled and spun, day and night.

