

The Great Puppet Maker would carry Marzette into town square and sing this song.

As he sang, children would come watch
Marzette dance by his hand.

*Hanging on a string,
Dancing as I sing,
Happily I call you mine.
Perfect as you are,
Shining like a star,
Every part a grand design.*