

Peppy is the Everyday family dog. He loved to play fetch and tug-of-war, run along the backyard fence, and drink lots of water.

The Everyday family could not understand why he liked exercise so much. They were much happier inside.

One sunny afternoon, Brother was feeling lazy and bored. He had spent so much of his morning saving the world from zombies on his favorite video game that he nearly turned into a zombie himself!

On the way to the kitchen for a chocolate snack, Brother watched his family. Had they turned into zombies? They seemed so distant. What could he do to save them?

