

Where do I start
and what do I say
when I think about this life and each of its days?