

she frolicked with Dolphin and other sea creatures.
Everyone loved her, except the sea witches.

Mermaid grew up and attended a ball,
Where she met Merprince, the handsomest of all.

Merprince said to her, "Good evening, merlady.
Would you care to share the next swim with me?"

so they twirled and they whirled to the music of the ocean, while the sea witches brewed a wicked potion.