

Excerpt Dear Hades

Finding love after coming back from the dead can be hard. We know you've probably spent the past few months adjusting to your new life in the mortal realm. Gone are the days of eating stingrays and ambrosia—now we have taco bars and plant-based meat.

But one thing stays constant, whether in 300 BCE or 2000 some-thing-or-other CE. (Can't be too specific here or we'll date the app. Get it? DATE THE APP. Okay, okay, Hades. Yeesh. I'll delete this. It won't make it into the final copy ... or will it?)

Anyway, the one constant: the search for love, for finding our other whole. Not half. Because, after all, you already are whole. But when you bring two wholes together ... woo Gaia, sparks fly.

Our mission is to help you find that special someone.

After all, those who we married in our past lives may not have crossed the threshold back into the land of the living. And many of you have told us you're starting anew in your search for love.

If you're looking for your forever with a monster, mortal, or whoever, Hades and I have got your back.